His Majesty King Mohammed VI, May God Assist Him

Royal Speech of His Majesty King Mohammed VI, May God Assist Him, on the Occasion of the Opening of the First Session of the Third Legisla- tive Year of the Eleventh Legislature

«Praise be to God,

May peace and blessings be upon the Prophet, His Kith and Kin

Honourable Members of Parliament,

It was the will of Almighty God that a tragic earthquake should strike our country, leaving behind thousands of martyrs and injuring a great many people - may they recover quickly, with God's help.

This has been a most painful experience which has affected us all, the King and the people, from Tangiers to Lagouira, from the east to the west of our country.

Almighty God says: "Say, 'Nothing will happen to us except what God has decreed for us.'" True is the Word of God.

I pray to Almighty God that He may stabilize His land, out of mercy for the weak and the needy among His servants, for He is the Most Merciful.

Earthquakes cause destruction, but we intend to rehabilitate and rebuild the devastated areas.

I therefore stress the need to continue providing assistance to the stricken families, to speed up rehabilitation and reconstruction in the affected areas, and to make sure basic services are available.

Beyond the horrific nature of the tragedy, what allevi-ates our suffering and, indeed, makes us proud, is the reaction of civil society and of all Moroccans - in the homeland and abroad - who have shown heartfelt, spontaneous solidarity with their afflicted brothers and sisters.

I also wish to commend the Royal Armed Forces and the various emergency and security agencies, government authorities and local governments for the sacrifices they have been making to rescue and assist the people living in the stricken regions.

I should like to reiterate my thanks to our friends and to sister nations that showed solidarity with the Moroccan people and stood by us during those painful circumstances.

Ladies and gentlemen,

This tragedy has shown that authentic Moroccan values have prevailed. They have enabled our country to overcome adversity and crises, again making us not only stronger, but also more determined to forge ahead, with unwavering confidence and optimism.

That is the spirit and those are the lofty values ingrained in our DNA. We see them as the cornerstone of our unity and of the cohesion of Moroccan society.

These rallying national values are enshrined in the Kingdom's Constitution. They apply to and are embodied by all the components of our authentic Moroccan identity and are also fully in line with universal values.

I am referring, in particular, to the values that form the bedrock of our unified national identity:

- Firstly: Religious and spiritual values, at the forefront of which are the values of Maliki Sunni Islam, which is based on the Commandership of the Faithful, and which calls for moderation, openness to others, tolerance and inter-faith, intercultural coexistence.

This is what makes Morocco a model of coexistence between Moroccans, Muslims and Jews alike. Ours is a country in which other faiths and cultures are duly respected.

- Secondly: The national values underpinning the Moroccan nation, and which are based on the monarchy. The latter is unanimously supported by all Moroccans; it brings together all components of the Moroccan people. Its pillar is the strong cohesion and the mutual allegiance - Bei'a - between the throne and the people.

Love of the homeland and unanimity on the nation's unity and territorial integrity are among Morocco's long-standing, immutable values which unite Moroccans, and which bring together all the constitutive components of our rich, diverse, yet unified identity.

- Thirdly: The values of solidarity and social cohesion between groups, generations and regions; this makes Moroccan society closely-knit, with different segments supporting and reinforcing one another.

We call for continued adherence to these values because they consolidate our national unity and family cohesion; they also preserve human dignity and enhance social Ministry of Justice. This is all the more necessary, given the profound and rapid shifts which are at work in the world today, and which have led to a noticeable decline in the value system. In fact, values are sometimes abandoned altogether.

Ladies and gentlemen,

It is in keeping with the spirit of these national values - which consider the family and family bonds to be sacred - that I have addressed a letter to the Head of Government asking for a review of the Family Code.

According to our Constitution, the family is the pillar of society. Therefore, I have always sought to make sure the conditions conducive to family cohesion are in place.

Society will not function properly if the family is not cohesive or is imbalanced. Family disintegration makes societies lose their moral compass.

Therefore, I have been working to enhance our identity through major projects. Among these is the large-scale social protection project, which I consider a pillar of our social and development model.

By the grace of the Almighty, we shall begin the implementation of the program for the provision direct social assistance at the end of this year.

To give concrete substance to the values of social solidarity, which are deeply ingrained in Moroccans, I have decided that this program should not be limited to the payment of family allowances. I have made sure it also includes some social segments that need support.

This assistance will concern school-age children as well as children with disabilities, newborn babies and also impoverished and vulnerable families without school-age children, especially those supporting elderly people.

Thanks to its direct impact, this program will contribute to raising the standard of living of target families and will help fight poverty and vulnerability, in addition to improving social and human development indicators.

Society is more productive and proactive when it is deeply committed to solidarity. It also becomes more resilient to contingences and fluctuations.

I have instructed the government to adopt a comprehensive approach for the implementation of this program, in keeping with the principles of the framework law on social protection approved by Parliament.

It should be implemented in a gradual manner, taking into account the funds allocated, the optimal scope of the coverage, the amounts to be disbursed and how the assistance is to be managed.

It should also be a model of successful implementation, based on the system for targeting beneficiaries under the unified social registry, making sure modern technology is properly leveraged.

In this regard, I wish to stress the need to uphold the principles of solidarity, transparency and equity, and to provide assistance to those who deserve it.

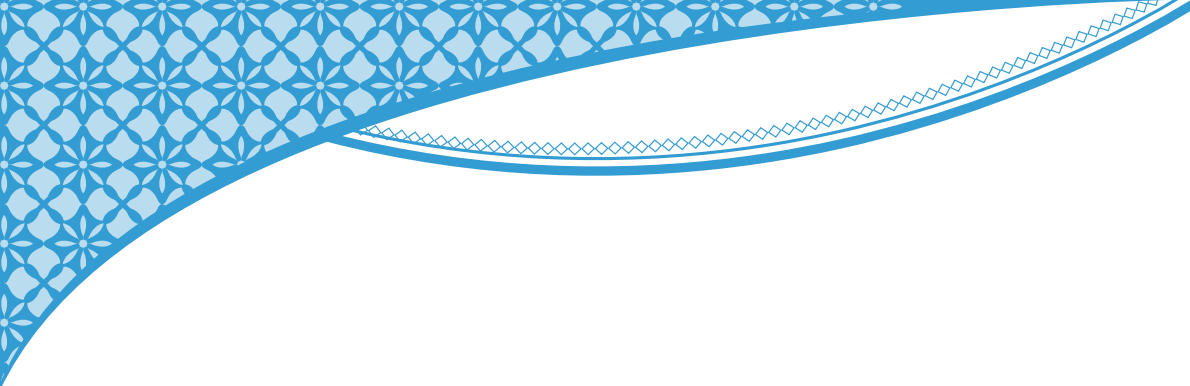

I call on the government to give priority to the rationalization of current social benefit schemes and ensure their effectiveness as well as the sustainability of their financing.

I also insist on the need to uphold the principles of good governance for the implementation of this project in its entirety; a special monitoring and evaluation mechanism needs to be set up for the project's continuous development and evaluation.

I am sure you are aware, ladies and gentlemen, of the role Parliament plays in terms of embodying and disseminating these time-honored values, as well as in the implementation of major projects and reforms and in ensuring the country's mobilization and its vigilance to defend the nation's causes and its best interests.

I can think of no better way to close this address than these words by the Almighty: "And they will say: 'Praise be to Allah, Who has removed from us (all) sorrow: for our Lord is indeed Oft-Forgiving, Ready to appreciate (service)". True is the Word of God.

Wassalamu alaikum warahmatullah wabarakatuh».

Preamble

The third legislative year 2023-2024, of the Eleventh Legislature (2021-2026), term was characterized by legislative activity reflecting the directions expressed by His Majesty King Mohammed VI, May God Assist and Enlighten Him, in His speech marking the opening of the autumn session, delivered on October 14th, 2023. In this speech, His Majesty issued royal directives calling for the establishment of a united and cohesive society by consolidating the principles of solidarity, transparency, and equity in the application of the direct social support system, ensuring full benefit for the targeted social groups. His Majesty declared: “... We call upon the government to prioritize the rationalization and efficiency of the existing social support program, and to ensure the sustainability of funding sources. We also emphasize the need for good governance of this project in all its dimensions and the establishment of a specific mechanism for monitoring and evaluation to ensure its development and continuous improvement.”

In the same vein, His Majesty urged the parliamentarians to give deep attention to this project in order to achieve the ultimate objectives, stating: “... It does not escape you, Ladies and Gentlemen, the role of Parliament in disseminating and realizing these ancestral values, in implementing major projects and reforms, and in maintaining commitment and vigilance to defend national causes and the higher interests of the country.”

Within the framework of cooperation and complementarity between the legislative institution and the executive authority, supported by the ongoing coordination role played by the Minister Delegate to the Head of Government, in Charge of Relations with Parliament, this legislative year has been distinguished by a legislative and oversight record deemed rich in terms of quality and quantity.

In the legislative domain, in addition to the approval of the 2024 Finance Bill, whose various stages of discussion were marked by a rich debate and a proactive response from the government to amendments proposed by parliamentarians on several of its articles, Parliament approved a significant number of bills with social and economic implications. This aims to implement the royal social protection initiative, which aspires to a genuine social revolution reflecting the impacts of the significant transitions currently taking place in Morocco in various fields, as a fundamental pillar of the democratic and developmental journey of the Cherifian Kingdom.

In this context, the Parliament approved 29 bills, 13 of which unanimously and 16 by majority, covering areas of great importance that have garnered national public attention. The notable legislative achievement of this year was the Parliament approval of 8 proposals unanimously.

To ensure the effectiveness and relevance of parliamentary work, the permanent parliamentary committees devoted particular attention to studying the bills submitted by the government, holding 202 meetings. At the level of the House of Representatives, these committees held 122 meetings, while the House of Councillors held 80. Additionally, 25 plenary sessions were organized in the House of Representatives and 22 in the House of Councillors.

In the realm of parliamentary oversight, and in light of the significant role attributed to parliamentary questions, whether oral or written, the government, during the third legislative session of 2023-2024, addressed 1,465 oral questions over the span of 52 sessions, out of a total of 5,353 oral questions submitted to it. This category of questions is governed by a quota system, applied in accordance with the principle of proportional representation for each parliamentary group or coalition. This mechanism inherently influences the degree of responsiveness demonstrated by the government toward this key oversight tool.

Regarding urgent oral questions, the government has continuously underscored its full commitment to responding to these inquiries, fully cognizant of their paramount importance to the members of Parliament. During this legislative year, the government declared its readiness to address 592 urgent oral questions. However, the offices of the two chambers of Parliament scheduled only 431 urgent oral questions, a decision once again driven by the implementation of the quota system, as stipulated by the internal regulations governing both parliamentary chambers.

In relation to written questions, there has been a marked and continuous increase in their volume from one legislative year to the next. This rise is chiefly attributable to the fact that written questions are exempt from the aforementioned quota system and due to the relative simplicity of the procedure for submitting them. Additionally, many of these questions tend to focus on regional and local affairs, further contributing to their proliferation. The statistical data clearly reflects this trend: during the current legislative year, the government responded to 5,656 written questions out of the 6,778 referred to it by members of both parliamentary chambers, resulting in a response rate of 83.48%. Furthermore, since the commencement of the eleventh legislative term (2021-2026), the government has answered 16,423 written questions out of a total of 23,008 submitted, corresponding to a response rate of 71.38%.

Furthermore, in response to urgent requests for speeches on current affairs where parliamentarians seek clarifications from the government on matters of national public interest, the government expressed its willingness to address 26 such requests. Regarding governmental commitments, the government presented the measures taken in response to 161 commitments recorded during ministers' responses to oral questions. As for commitments identified during meetings of the permanent parliamentary committees in the House of Representatives, in accordance with Article 114 of the internal regulations of that House, the government presented the measures taken in response to 152 commitments, which is not stipulated in the internal regulations of the House of Councillors.

From the standpoint of dialogue and consultation that the government strives to maintain as a mechanism of communication with the legislative power, in addition to presentations and discussions related to the supplementary budgets of various sectors during the examination and voting of the 2024 Finance Bill, several government members provided valuable presentations during meetings of these permanent parliamentary committees held during this legislative year. The number of these meetings amounted to 121 out of 190 requests submitted by various parliamentary groups and factions from both Houses. These meetings addressed topics such as: investment and business climate, forestry affairs, education, agricultural policy, media, public support, infrastructure, Land Planning and rural construction, water policy, the national tourism strategy 2023-2026, housing, digital affairs, and the national mining strategy.

A joint meeting was convened between the Committee on Ministry of Finance and Economic Development of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance, Planning, and Economic Development of the House of Councillors, in accordance with the provisions of Article 68 of the Constitution, Article 237 of the Internal Rules of the House of Representatives, and Article 263 of the Internal Rules of the House of Councillors. The meeting was devoted to following up on the governmental measures and actions undertaken in response to the effects of the recent earthquake that struck our country. During this session, the detailed presentation delivered by the Minister Delegate to the Minister of Economy and Finance, , in Charge of the budget, was heard, which included data and clarifications on the subject.

Within the same spirit, and in accordance with the royal instructions of His Majesty King Mohammed VI, May God Assist Him, a joint committee of the two Houses held a meeting to inform its members of the creation of a special allocation account titled: “Special Fund for Managing the Consequences of the Earthquake in the Kingdom.”

On the other hand, considering the significant role of the Public Finance Control Committee within the permanent parliamentary committees of the House of Representatives, this committee held 3 meetings, during which topics such as the financial management of the National Hydrocarbons Office, the thematic report by the National Authority for the Fight Against Corruption on digital transition as the mainstay for preventing and combating corruption, and vocational agricultural training were examined. On December 9th, 2023, a plenary session was held in the House of Representatives to discuss the committee’s report on “Monitoring the Management of the National Employment and Competencies Agency,” during which the Minister of Economic Integration, Micro Enterprises, Employment, and Competencies made a significant speech on the subject.

To enhance the exploratory role of parliamentary committees, the government responded positively to requests concerning two temporary investigation missions: one related to the National Motorways Company and the other to the state of forensic medicine in our country. These missions were assigned respectively to the Committee on Infrastructure, Energy, Mines, and Environment, and the Committee on Ministry of Justice, Legislation, and Human Rights of the House of Representatives, pending the commencement of their execution.

Upon the request of the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries, Rural Development, Water, and Forests, the production sector committees of the House of Representatives and the House of Councillors conducted a field visit to the Nador province. This visit aimed to familiarize with certain ministerial projects, particularly those related to aquaculture development and irrigation network modernization.

On the other hand, the government responded positively to several requests from parliamentary committees to organize meetings and discuss the reports of investigation missions. Among these missions are those related to living conditions in university residences, with the presence of the Minister of Higher Education, Scientific Research, and Innovation, as well as those concerning sand and marble quarries, with the presence of the Minister of Equipment and Water.

The report of the temporary investigation mission on the distribution and marketing network of agricultural products was discussed in a plenary session of the House of Representatives on December 5th, 2023. During this session, the Minister Delegate to the Head of Government, in Charge of Relations with Parliament responded to questions and observations from members of the House.

Regarding the evaluation of public policies, and in accordance with constitutional requirements and the commitments of the government program, the Head of Government presented the interim assessment of government action (2024-2021) before both Houses of Parliament. This presentation, made in accordance with the first paragraph of Article 101 of the Constitution, covered the strategies and major projects implemented in various areas, as well as the progress of ongoing projects, illustrated by figures, indicators, and precise data. The aim was to highlight the impact of government achievements on citizens' lives, as well as the constraints encountered in achieving certain objectives, while proposing the best solutions to address observed shortcomings. Within the same spirit of solemnity and effectiveness, the Head of Government also provided detailed responses to remarks and questions from members of both Houses during the discussion of his presentation.

The Head of Government proceeded on responding to questions provoked by parliamentarians regarding general policy, with a total of forty-four (44) fundamental questions posed during six (06) monthly sessions devoted to this purpose. These sessions allowed for enriching exchanges on several central affairs of government public policies, top most among which can be summarized as follows:

- Strategic directions of the health system in light of recent reforms;
- Reform of the educational system;
- Investment stimulation and employment dynamics;
- Land Planning and housing policy, its impact on economic dynamics and territorial development, and its role in the development of rural and mountainous areas;
- Social dialogue as a tool for promoting the national economy.

In accordance with the Royal instructions to strengthen the pillars of the social state through the generalization of social protection, the Head of Government presented an overview of the implementation of the direct social support program during a joint session of both Houses of Parliament.

In application of the provisions of the second paragraph of Article 101 of the Constitution and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VII of Part V of the Internal Rules, particularly Articles 287 to 293, the House of Representatives held an annual session on 16 July 2024 to discuss and evaluate public policies related to the “conditions and circumstances surrounding the implementation of Law No. 103.13 on combating violence against women.” During this session, the Minister of Solidarity, Social Integration, and Family delivered an address that touched upon various issues related to violence against women and outlined the actions and measures undertaken by the government to address them. She also praised this initiative by the House of Representatives, noting that it reflects the commitment of the legislative institution to curbing this phenomenon and its concern for women’s issues and empowerment.

The House of Councillors also held an annual session on July 23rd, 2024, to evaluate public policies in the tourism sector, in implementation of the provisions of the second paragraph of Article 101 of the Constitution and the provisions of Chapter Six of Book Five of the internal regulations of the House of Councillors, especially from Articles 308 to 316. The Minister of Tourism, Handicrafts, Social and Solidarity Economy delivered a speech on measures and actions undertaken in this area, as well as the government’s positive response to the majority of recommendations and suggestions put forward in the report.

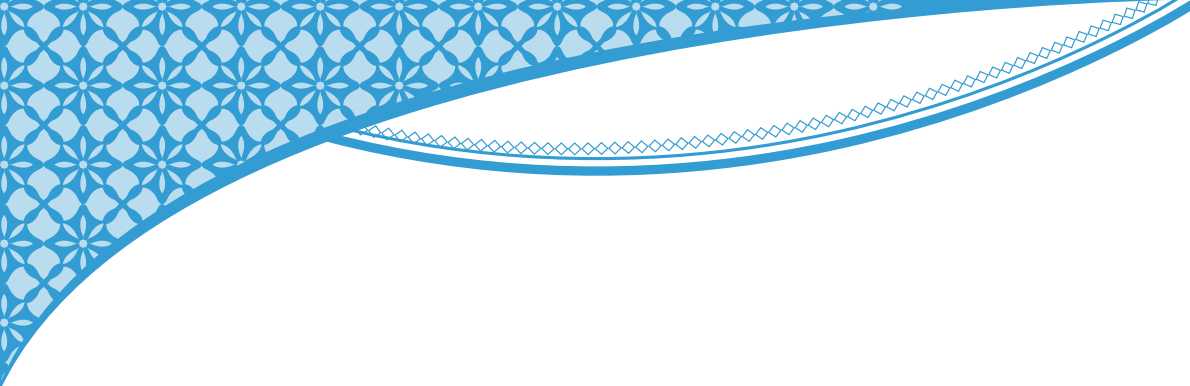

Furthermore, in accordance with Article 148 of its internal regulations, the House of Councillors held a plenary session on July 16th, 2024, to discuss the report of the temporary thematic committee on “language policy.” Concerned government members spoke on affairs related to language policy, affirming the government’s commitment to implementing obligations related to activating the Amazigh language, in accordance with the royal directives of His Majesty King Mohammed VI, May God Assist Him. They also highlighted the achievements made at the level of Moroccan cultural identity, under the high protection of His Majesty, as embodied in the 2011 Constitution, introducing Amazigh as an official language alongside Arabic.

Regarding ongoing matters under examination in both Houses of Parliament, eight (08) temporary thematic committees continue their work on topics such as “Plan Maroc Vert,” “measures to regulate prices of essential consumer goods,” “national sports strategy 2008-2020,” “literacy program 2017-2021,” “African affairs,” “equality and parity,” “artificial intelligence: perspectives and impacts,” and “energy transition” in the House of Representatives. A temporary thematic committee on “business climate and regional development” is also underway in the House of Councillors. To facilitate and ensure the success of these thematic committees’ work, ministers have made significant efforts by providing necessary data and presenting reports with responses based on precise indicators and statistics.

And God is the best guarantor of success
